* This workshop has been approved for 6.5 continuing education credits by the NASW-WA State Chapter for Licensed Social Workers, Marriage and Family Therapists, and Mental Health Counselors. Provider #1975-255.

Who should attend: Social Workers, Discharge Planners, and Case Managers from hospitals, rehabilitation facilities, and skilled nursing facilities.

Identifying patients and/or locating legal next of kin can be legally and ethically challenging, especially given privacy laws, medical center policies and complex family situations. Medical decision-making in this context presents its own dilemmas. This seminar will include a review of relevant laws and policies, as well as case presentations to illustrate how to apply them to your practice. Breakout sessions will allow attendees to work through legal and ethical questions surrounding these issues, while gaining skills to assist in even the most complicated of cases.

Learning Topics

- Adhering to federal & state privacy guidelines within the medical setting
- How to identify “Doe” patients
- Searching for legal next of kin
- Complex decision making— decisional capacity and surrogate decision making with focus on trauma, psychiatric, HIV/AIDS and other medical conditions
- How to follow procedures and apply these principles to your practice
- Avoiding common pitfalls via review of case examples
